Height: 4' 1" (124 cm)-

Weight: 155 lbs (70 kg)-

Eyes: Sharp, hazel eyes that seem to be constantly cataloging the stonework of any room she enters.

Beard: A magnificent, waist-length beard of deep chestnut brown, intricately braided with silver wire and small turquoise beads. She takes immense pride in its grooming, often absentmindedly braiding it further while she hums or studies.

Attire: She wears practical, road-worn traveling clothes in earth tones, covered by her padded gambeson. Her namesake "Bluefoot" comes from her sturdy leather boots, which she has dyed a distinct indigo.

CHARACTER BACKSTORY

COMBAT STRATEGY
The "Safety Net" (Healing Word) This is Helbo's most important tactical tool at Level 1.- Do not use Healing Word just because an ally is slightly hurt. Save it for when an ally drops to 0 HP. Since it is a Bonus Action, Helbo can cast it and still use her Action to attack with her Rapier or use the Message cantrip to coordinate the team. The Nature & History. Helbo’s knowledge of the mountain is a combat asset. Before the party goes underground, use Stonecunning to identify structural weaknesses. You might find a weakness to avoid danger or find a way to use as an advantage.
The "Thunderclap" Deterrent If Helbo is surrounded by small, weak enemies (like ash-rats or goblins), she has a loud solution. Use the Thunderclap cantrip. Every creature within 5 feet must make a Constitution save or take (1d6) thunder damage. It’s a great way to clear space if the "backline" gets swamped and distract enemies' concentrations Tactical Advice: Bardic Inspiration Timing. Give your Bardic Inspiration to allies before they make their big moves- A single missed attack can end a fight. Adding a (1d6) to an ally's attack roll ensures their big swing actually connects.
